Bilderberg? What Bilderberg?

Last November, Brexit leader Nigel Farage caused a bit of a stir with several statements concerning the Bilderberg Group and the dangers to representative government when super-wealthy insiders get together in secret with government officials.

The Daily Express reported that in Bilderberg: The Movie, a documentary about the organization, Farage speaks “about a possible conspiracy backed by EU leaders to bring down the nation-state. Speaking in an interview, Mr Farage insists he ‘tries very hard not to believe in conspiracy theories,’ but ‘I can see there is a move towards supranationalism.’”

The Express article goes on to quote Farage: “Just look at the IMF, in Washington. It’s supposed to be independent; effectively it has become the brand of the European Commission... I have got to know over the years, that the Van Rompuy, the Schulzes, the Barrosos, even the Junckers, the Timmermans, and it’s completely clear. They actually want to destroy the nation-state as a unit. A few years ago, the Greek Prime Minister said ‘I’ll give you a referendum.’ He was removed and replaced by a former Goldman Sachs director. Whenever the project goes wrong, whether it’s the Euro has a crisis, or the asylum crisis with the borders, every single time, there is for these guys an opportunity. It is known as ‘the beneficial crisis.’”

Bilderberg was briefly in the news again recently, as global elitists gathered in Montreux, Switzerland, May 30-June 2 for the group’s annual confab. As per usual, the “mainstream” media pretended not to see a thing.

The Greek example cited by Farage referred to the 2011 forced resignation of Greek Prime Minister George Papandreou. Now, Papandreou was not only the prime minister and president of the Panhellenic Socialist Movement (PASOK), Greece’s ruling party, but also president of the Socialist International (a position he still holds). In addition, he was himself a longtime member of the globalist über-elite and an attendee at the secretive Bilderberg Group conferences. So, what sin precipitated his fall from grace? Well, as Nigel Farage pointed out, he had the temerity to propose a national referendum to allow Greeks to vote on whether or not to accept the tax-and-austerity program that the Bilderberg banksters at the IMF, the European Central Bank, and Goldman Sachs had decided to impose upon them.

To be sure, Papandreou did not make his proposal out of any genuine sense of concern for “the will of the people.” No, it was a desperate politician’s pragmatic move. He was facing nationwide revolt from furious voters, savers, investors, and taxpayers. Papandreou decided to place personal political survival above globalist loyalties. That was the “sin” for which he was cast down into the netherworld. It didn’t matter that he soon recanted and withdrew his plebiscite offer. He was replaced by Lucas Papademos, a banker who had served as senior economist for the U.S. Federal Reserve Bank, before moving up to head the Bank of Greece, and then on to become vice president of the newly formed European Central Bank (ECB), initially under the ECB’s first president, Wim Duisenberg (a Bilderberg member), and then, under Duisenberg’s successor, Jean-Claude Trichet (a member of the Bilderberg Steering Committee). Papademos had not only helped launch the euro currency and promote Greece’s adoption of the new sovereignty-destroying money, but had also helped Goldman Sachs secretly make immense profits off Greece’s debt.

But that was just one part of a Bilderberg triple-coup dance in 2011. Trichet then stepped down from the ECB so that Bilderberg member Mario Draghi (former top exec at the World Bank, Bank of Italy, and Goldman Sachs) could take over as top EU banker. Draghi and company then engineered the ouster of Italian Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi so that Mario Monti (Bilderberg member, honorary European chairman of the Trilateral Commission, Goldman Sachs exec) could take his place. This succession of obvious coups by a secretive power elite caused widespread outrage throughout the European Union and contributed mightily to the ongoing “populist revolt” across the continent.

Farage also made passing reference to former Belgian Prime Minister Herman Van Rompuy, who was elevated to president of the European Council (2009-2014) after meeting with Henry Kissinger and other Bilderberg members at their 2009 conclave. Also mentioned was José Manuel Barroso (prime minister of

He is a Bilderberg Steering Committee member, and, since leaving "public service," he has been appointed chairman of Goldman Sachs International. Service has its rewards!

For mentioning the ongoing, patently corrupt and treasonous attacks on the rule of law by a powerful oligarchy, Farage has been branded as a "conspiracy theorist" by the controlled media. Nevertheless, his new Brexit Party stormed to electoral victory in the May elections for members of the European Parliament (MEPs). ★

Field Trip: The Springfield Armory Museum

A Lesson on "Shay's Rebellion" by Mr. Howell

Some of our female campers participated in preparing brown bag lunches for all those who opted to attend today's field trip. Reports indicate that the ride out to the Armory was approximately one hour.

Mr. Kalis, Mr. Shurtleff and a few other staff members drove mini vans full of campers. The rain developed into a down pour upon arrival accompanied by lightning. The entire group had to make a dash for it to find cover.

Mr. Howell stood in full period costume and entertained the camp with a retelling of the historic event known as "Shay's Rebellion". Then it was time to make a dash for it thru the pouring rain to the actual museum. The group was then split into two. One group watched a video presentation telling the history of the armory. The other toured the museum exhibits which was full of the weaponry built there and the machinery used in its construction.

Love God, Love Family, Love Country!

The Jr. Patriot Camp has been learning amazing facts about the Constitution. We had a very informative and fun day learning about the five Rights of the First Amendments. There were three different presenters who did not talk to each, who all live in three different states yet, on the same day they all talked about the First Amendment! Even our craft for the day tied into the same subject. The Rights were displayed on a hand of five fingers, in, of course, red, white, and blue!

For review the five Rights are: Freedom of Religion, Freedom Speech, Freedom of the Press, Freedom to Petition, and the Freedom to Assembly.

Take a look at the hand the Jr. Patriots assembled to help them remember these five Freedoms. By the way, we are working on a rap to also help us to remember this most important information. – Edith Craft

ATTENTION COUNSELORS

The Newspaper Staff will take your cabin's pizza order. We have xtra cheese and pepperoni available. Large Pies cost $8.00

The Jr. Patriots' first art project was to help ourselves remember the theme for our Jr. Camp for the week:

Love God!,
Love Family!,
Love Country!

We made a framed, mini poster, using our creative ideas. We signed our 'poster' as a pledge to ourselves, our God, our Family, and to our Country.

We could certainly make a direct tie-in to ideas that our Founding Fathers must have had in order to begin such a Great Nation [The United States of America] which continues still today. God has blessed America!!

Perhaps you can see some of our artwork from the class picture we submitted to the paper. Enjoy! – Edith Craft

OPERATION COPCICLE: FREEZE!

We at Camp Constitution really appreciate the Pittsfield Police Department for delivering Copsicles on the hottest day of camp.

Mr. Hoderny is being urged by our Nurse to keep hydrated and cool down with a refreshing Copsicle.

The campers alike welcomed the treat as well. We are truly grateful to our heroes in blue!

This report is dedicated to Shibastian Belanger who wants deparately to be mentioned in the Camp Newspaper. Shibastian, it is a delight to have such an enthusiastic camper at this years camp. I sure hope you are having the time of your life!

USMCA & The North American Union

USMCA BULLDOZES American Independence

Americans will pay a high price for the “big win” negotiated with Canada and Mexico.

Here's what's in the U.S.-Mexico-Canada Agreement:

- CHAPTER 17 & 23 Grants “migrant” workers labor protections
Allows an unlimited number of such workers
- CHAPTER 23 Dictates employer regulations, such as LGBTQ policies
- CHAPTER 26 Economic integration of North America
- CHAPTER 30 U.S. submission to global bodies
- CHAPTER 30 Layers of unaccountable global bureaucracy
- CHAPTER 30 Ability to change agreement without Congress

Our Constitution created limited government with few and defined powers, but the United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA) ignores the Constitution and American liberties, plows over American independence, and leads to international control.

WORST OF ALL

It Sets Up an EU-style
North American Union!

The socialist European Union (EU) has been a disaster! Economic integration leads to political integration. A country that loses control over its economy loses control over its sovereignty. A country can recover from an economic downturn, but it's nearly impossible to recover lost sovereignty — e.g. the UK and Brexit!

North American integration through the USMCA expands what NAFTA started:

- ✓ Loss of American Independence
- ✓ Merger with Mexico and Canada
- ✓ Congress Rubber-Stamping International Regulations
- ✓ Stepping Stone to Regional and World Govt.

*America First Would Become America Last
in a North American Union!*

7A – USS Constitution Crew

Your inspectors were greeted by a nicely decorated door. Inside there was a flag-draped coffin. Is this the grave of the unknown camper? Your century abandoned his post. Balloons were tastefully added to the plate art. We took the liberty of aligning all the wall plates. Streamers and balloon art was readily visible. We debated just exactly what that balloon animal was. We agreed it looked like a snake strangling another snake. We were informed that it is actually a weapon of some sort. Unfortunately, the ugly water heater was re-exposed by a reallocation of decorative resources. The new flag positioning was in good taste. Tidy cabin. Overall, very nicely done, but room for improvement.

Score: 7.0

7B – Thomas Jefferson

We were shocked to find red faced balloons in every bed. They looked like campers look when forced to smile. Your inspectors were seeing reds under every bed. The cabin earned our admiration for the many quotations, not pulled from a book, but rather, extracted from Camp Constitution lectures. That's what we're talkin' 'bout! You had a prop failure that caused the Gadsen flag to fall. No points deducted for an honest attempt. Very clean cabin and neatly kept. Great Job!

Girls Port Side ?

Blah, Blah, Blah. Ho hum. Nothing new to see hear. Move along these are not the rooms you are looking for. There were some shoes out of place. It was obvious that your cleanup was rushed a bit. I hope you are not throwing the contest. We found a pile of clothes in the bathroom and a crushed cup on the floor. You gotta pick it up girls, not just the cup! The boys can show you how it is done. On the upside, your beds were nicely made. The cabin was not a total disaster, but not inspirational.

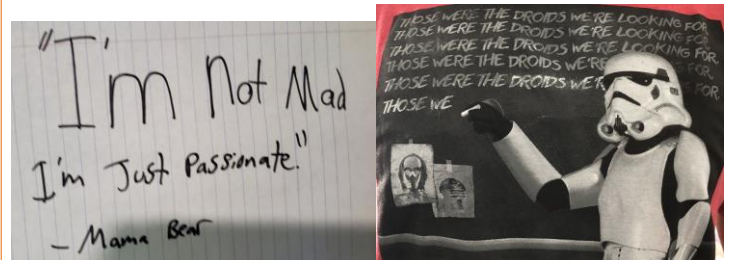

Score: 4.0

Girls Starboard Side

Your Ten Commandments display inspired us. Perhaps the 11th commandment would be ... Thou shalt decorate thy cabin. While cleanliness is next to Godliness, cleaverness gets you points. Step it up Girls! Mediocrity gets you no where. You're score represents the fact that your competition is sorely lacking.

Score: 4.5

ATTENTION GIRLS: If you don't put more effort into this cabin competition, we reserve the right to declare two Boy Cabins as winners and all the girls will be buying.

The scores are tight and we are approaching the half-way point of the contest. Newspaper participation is going to make a huge difference. Currently, none of the cabins are taking advantage of the opportunity.
