Q: What is new in Skin Care for Men and Women?

A: As a Women's Health Nurse Practitioner, I was thrilled to have been introduced to AIVITA Biomedical and their two facial products: PROVOQUE® Facial Serum and Eye Complex. PROVOQUE®, was developed by leaders in the stem cell field to be the most physiologically complete anti-aging formulation on the market. It mimics the complex microenvironment of early developing skin, more effectively replacing what is lost with age. AIVITA Biomedical demonstrated remarkable results in 12-week double-blind studies. More importantly, the company is engaged in the advancement of commercial and clinical-stage programs utilizing curative and regenerative medicines; Therefore, 100% of proceeds from the sale of the PROVOQUE® products support their Phase II clinical trial in patients with ovarian cancer. On December 20, 2017, AIVITA Biomedical announced that the first patient has been enrolled in its Phase II Clinical Trial for Late-stage Ovarian Cancer.
