Issues Resolved

- When using Auto Credit Memo with Billing Cycle Date for periodic start terms, and multiple partial returns are processed for the same rental unit a filtering error occurs and the Auto Credit Memo is not created.
- When using Auto Credit Memo with Billing Cycle Date and after an Invoice has been posted for the rental lines add sales line records and invoice the sales lines, then do a partial return, the credit memo is not created and an error occurs.
- When using Auto Credit Memo with Billing Cycle Date and the contract has multiple rental lines with different Rental Start Dates, and if the first period on a unit line was prorated, and then an early return was processed, the Auto Credit Memo is not created.
- When on a rental contract the Billing Cycle Type of Billing Cycle Date with a periodic start prorated term is being used, and after invoicing the first rental period, then extend the return date to be greater than another full period, the Billing Cycle Date on the Invoice Details tab does not update to the ending date of the next full period.
- When using a rental term having an Invoicing Type of End and the pricing included Damage Waiver pricing of Unit Price and on the Rental Line the Rental Return Date is blank, then if have invoiced the contract and enter the Rental Return Date an additional Rental Amount Line for Damage Waiver is created with the same Starting Date-Time and Ending Date-Time as the already invoiced Damage Waiver record.
