

Recording Reseed Events

When you have a paddock that you are going to reseed, there are two things you need to do on PBI. Firstly, in the cover immediately before the reseed, (after the last grazing has taken place) set the paddock status to Reseed. Leave it at reseed until the new grass has grown. When you want to bring this paddock back into the rotation, you then record a cover for this paddock and change the status back to Grass. The paddock will then be back on the Grass Wedge again.

The second point is optional. This is the area in PBI where you can record what particular type of seed was used to reseed a paddock, the date it was reseeded, the amount and method used.

To do this, you click into the Reseed Event.

Select ADD NEW RESEED:

Then tick the small box to the right of the paddock name to select it, or click on Check All if you want to select all paddocks

Then click into the box Reseed Date and select date from Calendar.

Select Reseed Method

You can choose whether to enter the amounts in kg/ha or kg/acre

Underneath this you then select the type of seed. In the Variety Type box, you then select one from the list of numerous varieties from the drop-down list underneath Variety. Then in the final box, enter the amount.

There is an option to add up to 5 varieties of seed but if you want to add more, you simply click on Add Another Variety
