The screenshot shows a mobile app interface for configuring virtual code settings. At the top, the status bar displays 'Verizon LTE', '8:19 PM', and '77%' battery. The main heading is 'Configure Virtual Code Settings'. Below this, there are two paragraphs of instructional text. The first paragraph asks the user to select a validation method. The second paragraph explains that a code will be sent to the chosen method and that the user will need to enter it. There are three radio button options: 'Text Message', 'Voice', and 'Email'. The 'Email' option is selected. Below the options, the email address 'lt@district87.org' is displayed. A blue 'SEND EMAIL' button is positioned below the email address. Underneath, there is a section labeled 'Enter Code' with a text input field containing a yellowed-out code. Below the input field is a checkbox that is checked, with text explaining that this option exempts the user from entering a code on this device. At the bottom, there is a blue 'CONTINUE' button.
