What is the difference between an ISP retailer and a Wholesaler?

As an ISP retailer Active Utilities do not own or manage any of the infrastructure used to deliver your service. We are responsible for the delivery of the service in all aspects however this delivered through the network owner (Wholesaler).

Active Utilities Residential and Business Voice and Data services are provided by one of the following wholesaler's depending on your location LBNCo, Open Networks, Optus or NBN. Business customers are exempt from some of the protections listed in the Consumer protection code as they have a genuine opportunity to negotiate rates as opposed to residential that have fixed offerings.
