The recently sworn-in 112th Congress brings the return of divided government, with a new Republican majority in the House and a diminished Democratic majority in the Senate. The political landscape of Capitol Hill will be strongly influenced by the interaction between a divided Congress and a Democratic Administration gearing up for the 2012 presidential elections—a dynamic that presents opportunities for both bipartisan cooperation as well as partisan gridlock on key policy initiatives.

To learn how your business practices may be affected, please join the Kelley Drye & Warren LLP Government Relations and Public Policy practice, as the group presents "A Congressional Forum: The Legislative Agenda for 2011." Kelley Drye conducts this legislative forum annually as an opportunity for our clients and friends to hear first-hand from key representatives and leading policymakers from Capitol Hill about topics that will be relevant for the upcoming session, including the economic outlook, tax, international trade, healthcare, energy and environment, labor, telecommunications, privacy, and infrastructure.
