As the 112th Congress returns to Washington for its second session, activities on Capitol Hill will be strongly influenced by the tension between legislative priorities and the politics of a Presidential and Congressional election year, magnified by the realities of divided government. This dynamic presents opportunities for both bipartisan cooperation as well as partisan gridlock on key policy initiatives.

To learn how your business practices may be affected, please join Kelley Drye & Warren LLP's Government Relations & Public Policy Practice as the group presents "A Congressional Forum: The Legislative Agenda for 2012." Kelley Drye conducts this legislative forum annually as an opportunity for our clients and friends to hear first-hand from leading policymakers about topics that will be relevant in the months ahead, including the economic outlook, tax, international trade, health care, energy and environment, labor, telecommunications, privacy, and infrastructure.
