Andres Barajas focuses his practice on representing official and ad hoc committees, as well as individual creditors, through every aspect of complex Chapter 11 bankruptcy cases across a broad spectrum of industries, including health care, retail, restaurant, and technology, in both in-court and out-of-court restructurings. Andres leverages valuable insights gained from his extensive experience representing other stakeholders in bankruptcy cases, including debtors, lenders, equity holders, and purchasers of distressed assets, to advocate on behalf of creditor interests.
