

Arms Control Today Quotes Partner Eric McClafferty on Missile Technology Control Regime

April 3, 2014

Partner Eric McClafferty was quoted in the Arms Control Today article “Drone Proliferation Tests Arms Control.” The article discusses how, while the U.S. government is preparing for an interagency review of rules governing the export of large drones, a new test is being created for the 27-year-old Missile Technology Control Regime (MTCR). Eric explained that “It’s quite unlikely that we will see any radical change in the MTCR. That said, there’s a lot of pressure on the U.S. government to liberalize controls to make sure the U.S. doesn’t get left behind in this market.”

To read the full article, please click here.