

Bill Jackson Featured in Product Liability Cases Spotlight on Law360

July 8, 2025

Partner and co-chair of the Environmental Law practice group Bill Jackson was featured in "Product Liability Cases To Watch In 2nd Half Of 2025" by Law360. The article covers the upcoming bench verdict in a first-of-its-kind PFAS case brought by the State of New Jersey against E.I. du Pont de Nemours. The verdict will decide if DuPont can be held liable for discharging PFAS into the Delaware River.

"In the first perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances, or PFAS, case brought by a state to go to trial, [Bill] said during closing statements in June that his client, the state of New Jersey, had presented "voluminous evidence" that the wastewater treatment plant at the Chambers Works facility in Carneys Point, New Jersey, did not work."
