

Brooke Ringel Quoted on Tariff Appeals

May 13, 2026

Partner Brooke Ringel was quoted by Law.com in their article, "'The Bigger Action Will Be on Appeal': Importers Battling Trump's Tariffs Face Tougher Fight in Federal Circuit." The article covers the appellate process facing importers who won the court ruling striking down the Trump administration's 10% global tariffs. The court deemed the tariffs unlawful, but they only offered injunctive relief to specific parties, explicitly refusing to strike down the duties nationwide.

Brooke said that limited injunction makes it unclear what importers should do if they paid Section 122 duties. "I really hate to say 'wait and see' because that's not satisfying to anyone who's trying to run a business on a day-to-day basis, but really, we need more information," she said.
