

Deals in the Era of SRRA

Steven L. Humphreys

June 12, 2009

The article focused on how purchasers of properties can conduct environmental due diligence, in a cost effective manner, according to recent state and federal standards. The article discussed the Site Remediation Reform Act, interactions with Licensed Site Remediation Professionals, undetected risks associated with future liabilities and how the standard of cleanup will impact business operations.