

Do alligators and crocodiles provide a blueprint for protecting commercial trade in wildlife?

David E. Frulla

November 3, 2020

An article by Kelley Drye partner David Frulla was recently featured in the Los Angeles & San Francisco Daily Journal. The article, "Do alligators and crocodiles provide a blueprint for protecting commercial trade in wildlife?", discusses the impact that a preliminary injunction against the State of California in the case of Paris v. Becerra will have on the commercial importation, possession with intent to sell, and sale of alligators, crocodiles, and their parts and products within the state.

Click here to view the complete article.