

IEEPA Tariff Refunds

Recovering tariffs paid under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA) can be complex and time-consuming. Kelley Drye helps importers navigate the process efficiently to maximize potential refunds.

About

Recent legal developments have created the potential for importers to recover tariffs paid under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA). For many companies these duties represented a significant and unexpected cost. As the refund process continues to evolve through agency guidance and court proceedings, companies must evaluate their eligibility, preserve claims, and prepare for the administrative recovery process.

Kelley Drye's International Trade team is actively advising companies on strategies to pursue IEEPA tariff refunds. Our lawyers and trade professionals help clients assess potential recovery opportunities, develop refund strategies, and navigate the procedural pathways available through U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and the courts. This includes evaluating entry data, identifying eligible transactions, preparing required filings, and managing the overall refund process.

To support clients pursuing refunds, Kelley Drye has developed a proprietary IEEPA Refund Dashboard designed to provide clear visibility into potential recovery amounts and track refund activity.
