

India Business Law Journal Lists Kelley Drye as Leading Foreign Law Firm

June 14, 2017

For the fourth consecutive year, Kelley Drye has been selected by The India Business Law Journal as one of the top international law firms for India related work.

For nearly half a century, Kelley Drye's India practice has delivered quality legal services to U.S. and international clients in their Indian business relationships, and to Indian businesses operating in the United States. The India practice has been recognized as a "significant player" in the journal's ranking which showcases India-related achievements and activities of law firms around the world. The journal notes that that Kelley Drye has expanded its India practice, especially for high-stakes litigation and complex M&A matters. Partner Deepak Nambiar are noted as the firm's principal India contacts.

The IBLJ survey, now in its 11th year, compared more than 600 law firms from every continent that have documented deals and matters with an Indian element in the past 12 months.
