

Interview with David Vladeck, Director, FTC Bureau of Consumer Protection

John E. Villafranco

April 16, 2010

The American Bar Association's The Antitrust Source published an article, "Interview with David Vladeck, Director, FTC Bureau of Consumer Protection," conducted by partner John Villafranco. The in-depth interview examined David's career as a litigator and professor and how his accomplishments and challenges are shaping his tenure at the Federal Trade Commission. John probed about David's views on topics including the commercial speech doctrine, social media, alternative remedies for data breaches, and a proposed Consumer Financial Protection Agency, among other subjects.