Benjamin Gilman will speak on the panel, "Investigations: HR's Roles & Actions Workshop," at the Cornell University National HR in Hospitality Conference.

The session will examine how HR professionals can effectively handle workplace investigations—from employee disputes to harassment and wage-related concerns—while highlighting best practices for structuring investigations, gathering and documenting evidence, interviewing witnesses, and maintaining neutrality throughout.

The panelists will also discuss common pitfalls and provide strategies to ensure findings are fair, consistent, and able to withstand scrutiny from leadership, employees, and the courts.
