

Kelley Drye's California Expansion Featured in Law.com

March 20, 2026

Law.com reported on Kelley Drye's recent announcement on the opening of its San Francisco office. The office marks Kelley Drye's third location in California after its Los Angeles and San Diego offices.

The article highlights the firm's strategic expansion on the West Coast, driven by growing client demand and their increasingly complex legal needs. Firm Managing Partner Dana Rosenfeld notes that the new San Francisco office supports clients across industries such as technology and consumer products, while also positioning the firm to expand its talent base, particularly in litigation, labor and employment, and privacy.

Read the full article here.