

Kelley Drye's Laura Riposo VanDruff Featured in Protocol

November 11, 2021

A Protocol article on the appointment of Meredith Whittaker as senior advisor of AI for the FTC features commentary on the appointment by partner Laura Riposo VanDruff. As a researcher on the social implications of AI, Whittaker's previous work suggests that her presence might encourage the government to require new transparency from tech companies about how their algorithms work.

"[Whittaker's] hiring is just the latest evidence of the FTC's attention on algorithms and algorithmic issues," said Laura Riposo VanDruff. "How she shapes policy and enforcement could be [FTC] Chairman [Lina] Khan's privacy legacy," she added.
