

Kelley Drye's Wayne D'Angelo Featured in Politico Article

November 4, 2020

Kelley Drye partner Wayne D'Angelo was quoted in a recent Politico article detailing how the oil industry fared during the Trump Administration. Trump frustrated the industry by declaring vast swaths of shoreline off Florida and other states off-limits to drilling, an election-year reversal of his past promises to expand offshore production. And even one nominal bright spot for the industry — the administration's aggressive rollback of regulations — has been so rushed and beset by legal challenges that Democrats may have little trouble reinstating the rules if they reclaim power.

D'Angelo is quoted stating "Three and a half years of rollbacks facing serious litigation ensures a lot of things are 'to-be-decided,'"

Read the full story here. May require a subscription.