

Laura VanDruff Quoted in Cybersecurity Law Report

October 23, 2025

Partner Laura Riposo VanDruff was quoted in “CCPA’s Tractor Supply Decision Offers Lessons As Enforcement Focus Moves From Education to Deterrence” by Cybersecurity Law Report. The article covers the California Privacy Protection Agency’s (CPPA) recent decision against Tractor Supply Company, which was fined $1.35 million for violating Californians’ privacy rights. Laura provides some background on the significance of the decision, since it is the highest fine yet resulting from a CCPA investigation.

“Earlier fines under the CCPA were significantly smaller, because the CPPA was focused on educating companies, but now the agency seems to believe that companies have had sufficient time to secure counsel, change practices, and update their policies and procedures, so the focus is moving from education to deterrence.”
