

Lawyers Need to Create Defensible Document Review Using Stats

Matthew C. Luzadder

April 30, 2012

This article discusses statistical sampling as effective quality control in document reviews. The author also covers the "acceptable error rate" in a document review and provides suggestions for improving accuracy or correcting errors in a document production using statistical sampling.