

Matt Luzadder Quoted in Nacha Press Release on Business Email Compromise Response Action Plan

July 31, 2024

Managing Partner of Kelley Drye's Chicago office, Matt Luzadder, was quoted in a recent Nacha press release on the debut and publication of the Nacha Payments Innovation Alliance's "Business Email Compromise Response Action Plan." The publication outlines specific courses of action that can be taken by companies who have been affected by business email compromise (BEC). As co-leader of the Alliance's Cybersecurity & Payments AI Project Team, Matt was crucial to the development and execution of the plan.

"Business email compromise is on the rise, and information that is shared publicly about contracts and business relationships makes organizations vulnerable," said Luzadder. "The Response Action Plan details what to do if your company is impacted and practical steps to take to prevent business email compromise from occurring."
