

Multinational Corporations Face Conflicting, Uncertain Reporting Standards

Mark L. Austrian, Christie Grymes Thompson

July 18, 2011

This article surveys the current reporting requirements of consumer product safety information for corporations. As requirements differ from country to country, the authors review the current reporting standards in the United States, Canada, Australia and Europe. The article compares the standards, provides in-depth analysis explaining risk estimations and concludes with practical pointers.