

National Law Journal Notes Kelley Drye's Representation of Riddell Inc. in Class Action

August 12, 2014

Kelley Drye was mentioned in the National Law Journal article, "Helmet Maker Says Consumer Claims Are Unsubstantiated." Kelley Drye litigation partners Joseph A. Boyle and Michael C. Lynch are representing Riddell and its subsidiaries in a class action matter which alleges claims of false advertising. The article notes that Riddell filed a motion to dismiss the lawsuit on August 1st in New Jersey federal court arguing that the suit is a "shell of sensational allegations devoid of substance."

To read more click here (may need subscription).