

Paul Singer Quoted by Law.com on Texas AG and Privacy Laws

April 11, 2025

State Attorneys General practice chair and partner Paul Singer was quoted in a Law.com article, "Texas AG Using State's Formidable New Privacy Law to Tame Corporate Titans." The article discusses Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton's recent aggressive privacy enforcement actions which many call "the toughest in the nation." The article also discusses a landmark settlement with Meta and Paxton's recent announcement regarding his run for U.S. Senate next year.

"I think it definitely makes corporate America pay attention to Ken Paxton, as well they should," said Paul Singer, a partner at Kelley Drye & Warren in Austin, Texas, who worked in the Texas Attorney General's Office for more than two decades."

This article was posted on Law.com and Corporate Counsel Online. Subscriptions required.