About

Perry Austin focuses his practice on complex commercial litigation matters in federal and state courts. Perry has represented clients across a diverse range of industries—including financial services, healthcare, media, and professional services—in high-stakes disputes involving securities litigation, False Claims Act claims, defamation, trade-secret misappropriation, and other commercial matters.

Before joining Kelley Drye, Perry served on the internal legal team at a major international law firm. Perry began his career as an associate at a prominent litigation firm in Washington, D.C., where he represented clients in a wide range of complex civil disputes. He also served as oversight counsel on the United States Senate Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

Perry clerked for the Honorable Henry F. Floyd in the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit and the Honorable John A. Gibney, Jr. in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia.
