Partner Michael Lynch participated as a panelist in a program titled "She said, he said. What?" at the Streamlining Relationships with Outside Counsel program on January 24, 2013. This panel discussed the best practices and recurring problematic areas on communication between inside managers (including lawyers) and outside counsel. The panel spoke about what works, what "winning" looks like, and what a "loss" is. The program also included the top five peeves of in house managers and the top five peeves of outside counsel.
