

Super Lawyers 2019 (Thomson Reuters) Recognizes 16 Kelley Drye Attorneys in Washington, DC Office

April 19, 2019

Super Lawyers, a Thomson Reuters business, has selected 16 Kelley Drye attorneys for inclusion in the Washington, DC 2019 Super Lawyers recognitions. Of the 16 who made the list, 14 were recognized as “Super Lawyers,” and two as “Rising Stars.”

Super Lawyers selects attorneys using a multiphase selection process consisting of peer nominations and evaluations combined with independent research. Of those nominated, 5 percent of the attorneys are named to Super Lawyers and 2.5 percent are named to Rising Stars. Selections are made on an annual, state-by-state basis.

The following Washington, DC Kelley Drye attorneys were selected by Super Lawyers:

- Kathleen W. Cannon - International
- Thomas W. Cohen - Communications
- Michael J. Coursey - International
- David E. Frulla - Government Relations
- John M. Herrmann, II - International
- Ira T. Kasdan - Business Litigation
- Laurence J. Lasoff - International
- William C. MacLeod - Antitrust Litigation
- Eric McClafferty - International
- Paul C. Rosenthal - International
- Christie Grymes Thompson - Media/Advertising
- John E. Villafranco - Media/Advertising
- John L. Wittenborn - Environmental
- Chip Yorkgitis - Communications

The below attorneys were recognized as 2019 “Rising Stars.” Rising Stars are attorneys age 40 or younger, or those who have been practicing for less than ten years:

- Donnelly L. McDowell - Consumer Law
- Brooke M. Ringel - International