

The Institute of Medicine Report on Food Marketing to Children

William C. MacLeod

April 1, 2006

The Institute of Medicine issued its widely anticipated report, Food Marketing to Children and Youth: Threat or Opportunity? Anyone reading press accounts of the Report would likely conclude the IOM finally found what critics of the food industry had long maintained – that food advertising was causing kids to gain weight.