

The Wall Street Journal Quotes Partner Robert L. LeHane on Friendly's Bankruptcy Case

October 6, 2011

The Wall Street Journal article, "Friendly's, Through Fribble-Tinted Glasses," reported on Friendly's restaurant chain, which filed for bankruptcy on October 5, 2011.

The article noted, "Robert L. LeHane, an attorney with Kelley Drye & Warren, who's representing a group of landlords in this case, said he had received a very personal plea--from his daughter.

'My daughter...urged me to make sure that Friendly's stay open,' he said, adding that his clients, too, would 'certainly like to see a healthy Friendly's survive this bankruptcy process.'"