

Wall Street Journal Quotes Partner Thomas Cohen on Net Neutrality

February 4, 2015

Partner Thomas Cohen was quoted in the Wall Street Journal article "Google and Net Neutrality: It's Complicated." The article outlines Google's conflicting interests in the debate over "net neutrality." In reference to Federal Communications Commission Chairman Tom Wheeler's neutrality proposal, Tom points out Wheeler's proposal to regulate broadband providers under a 1996 law that requires rates to be "just and reasonable." He said that would open the door to "decades of regulation."

To read the full article, please click here.