

Webinar Replay: Teen Privacy Law Update

Laura Riposo VanDruff

May 20, 2022

The replay for our May 19, 2022 Teen Privacy Law Update webinar is available here.

Protecting the privacy and safety of kids and teens online is receiving enormous attention lately from Congress, the States, the FTC, and even the White House. Further, just last month, BBB National Programs unveiled a Teenage Privacy Program Roadmap offering a comprehensive framework for companies to use in identifying and avoiding online harms impacting teens.

Amidst these developments, Kelley Drye held a webinar to discuss the unique challenges associated with teen privacy. Dona J. Fraser, Senior Vice President Privacy Initiatives, BBB National Programs, and Claire Quinn, Chief Privacy Officer, PRIVO, along with Kelley Drye's Laura Riposo VanDruff provided an update on key concerns and developments related to teen privacy, as well as practical tips for companies seeking to address these issues.

To view the webinar recording, click here or view it on the new Ad Law Access App.

Subscribe to the Ad Law Access blog to receive real-time updates on privacy and other related matters.

The Ad Law News and Views newsletter provides information on our upcoming events and a summary of recent blog posts and other publications.

Visit the Advertising and Privacy Law Resource Center for additional information, past webinars, and educational materials.

For easy access to all of our webinars, posts and podcasts, download our new Ad Law Access App.

