Workbook Design

We carefully plan every workbook page and everything that's on it. Our workbooks are accessible and friendly, yet also promote excellence. We want children to practice correctly, therefore our workbook pages promote efficient, effective practice for each letter.

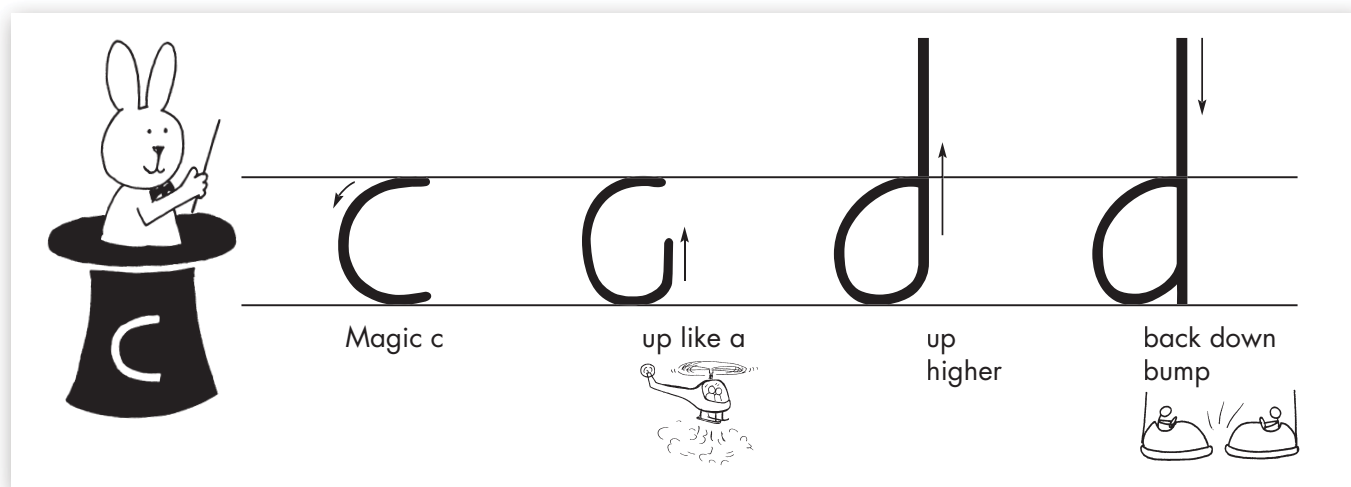

Child Friendly, Simple Language

Our child friendly language evolved in response to complicated letter formation terminology in other programs. When teaching letter formation, we eliminate language that assumes that children understand left/right orientation, clockwise/ counterclockwise, or forward/backward circles. We make it easy by using fewer, carefully selected words that all children know and understand.

Large Step-by-Step Models

It is much easier for children to understand how to form letters if you show them how step by step. Our workbooks contain large step-by-step images that show students how to make each part of every letter.

Lefty Friendly

Our workbooks are lefty friendly. Teaching pages provide models on the left and right so that left-handed children can easily see the model they are copying. Lefties never have to lift their hands or place them in an awkward position to see a model.

Developmental Teaching Order

Teaching in a developmental order helps children master skills and boosts confidence. We teach the easiest skills first, then build on prior knowledge. Capitals are taught first, and lowercase letters follow. All letters are taught in small groups of similar formation.

Black & White, Clean Design, and Thoughtful Illustrations

The black and white pages in our workbooks are clean and clear. We deliberately avoid visually confusing backgrounds, colored graphics, crowded pages, and multicolored lines. Our simple workbook pages are appealing and invite children to color and draw when they have finished a lesson.

Our illustrations promote left-to-right directionality. This is a unique feature of our workbooks. The car, helicopter, horse, and other drawings move left to right across the page to encourage correct visual tracking and writing direction.

Continuous, Meaningful Review

Children retain skills better if they have continuous, meaningful review. That's why each new letter is used in words and sentences that emphasize practice of the new letter and help children review and practice previously learned letters.

Cross-Curricular Connections

In addition to handwriting, we want the pages to have connections to other grade-appropriate curricula. We create pages that help you teach handwriting, and review other grade-appropriate skills.

Simple Spatial Organization

We begin by teaching capital letters and numbers with Gray Blocks, which prevent reversals and help children learn how to place letters and numbers.

As children move to lowercase, our double lines foster handwriting success. The mid line is for size. The base line is for placement. The middle space is for small letters, the top space is for tall letters, while the bottom space is for descending letters.

When children are learning to print, they need extra room to write. Our landscape style workbooks give them space to write and develop good spacing habits.

Activity Design

This teacher's guide has plans and strategies for every activity. Multisensory activities can be found starting on p. 147. Here's a sample activity plan.

Wet-Dry-Try for Lowercase Letters

Using Wet-Dry-Try on the Blackboard with Double Lines is an innovative teaching strategy. The latest research on brain development supports this activity. This research calls for fewer elements (just two lines), modeling, sensory engagement, and immediate feedback (Sousa 2011).

Materials

- Blackboard with Double Lines* (1 per child)
- Little Chalk Bits (1")
- Little Sponge Cubes (1/2")
- Little cups of water
- Paper towel pieces

Activity

1. Prepare Blackboards

Write letter with chalk as a model to trace.

2. Teacher's Part – Write f with Chalk

Use chalk to write a letter on double lines. Say the step-by-step directions.

3. Child's Part – Wet-Dry-Try

As the child does each part, say the step-by-step directions to guide the child. The child is encouraged to join in, saying the words.

Wet: The child uses a Little Sponge Cube to trace the letter.

Dry: The child uses a little piece of paper towel to trace the letter.

Try: The child uses a Little Chalk Bit to write the letter.

*If you don't have a Blackboard with Double Lines, consider using our Double Line Writer on your whiteboard. This product is available at LWTears.com.

This teacher's guide has lesson plans and strategies for every workbook page. Here is a sample letter lesson.

STARTING THE LESSON

Letter, workbook page, and objectives are shown in the top corner. Start each lesson with the suggested multisensory activity.

TEACHING THE LESSON

Lesson Plan

The letter lesson follows these steps:

1. Direct Instruction – Actively demonstrate the letter for children to finger trace and then copy.
2. Guided Practice – Children finger trace and copy the letter.
3. Check Letter – Children check their letter and evaluate formation.

Read, Color & Draw

You and your children read the sentence. Children color and draw.
