

Good News! IT'S CREATION!

You're never too young to learn about your Creator and the wonderful plan God had for creation. Wonder and delight fill every page as best-selling author Glenys Nellist shares God's amazing work of creation with little ones. With fun, biblically sound teaching, kids will learn through Lizzie Walkley's warm and vibrant illustrations that everything God made, from the sun and moon to Adam and Eve, rejoices in God's design.

Collect all the Good News books!

Our Daily Bread
Publishing™

Fun Activities to Do with Your Child

There is a joy in sharing books with our little ones. As you read Good News! It's Creation! together, here are some fun ideas to extend the interaction beyond reading:

- After reading the book, ask your child which day they think God enjoyed the most and why.
- See if you can name, together, all the different sea creatures on the ocean page.
- Play “I Spy” using either colors or first letters on the animal page.
- Ask your child which is their favorite page in the book and why. Then tell them yours.
- Once your child is familiar with the story, have some rhyming fun. Read each verse but pause before saying the last word. See if your child can fill in the missing rhymes.
- Print the following pages and work through the activities together.
- Whatever you do, have fun!

Find the Butterflies!

There are eight butterflies hidden in this picture.
Draw a circle around each one as you find it.

Our Daily Bread
Publishing™

Matching Pictures

Draw a line from left to right to match the pictures.

I Spy

Draw a circle around all these animals when you find them:

3 dolphins | snake | zebra | bat | shark | sloth | raccoon | wolf | horse | crocodile

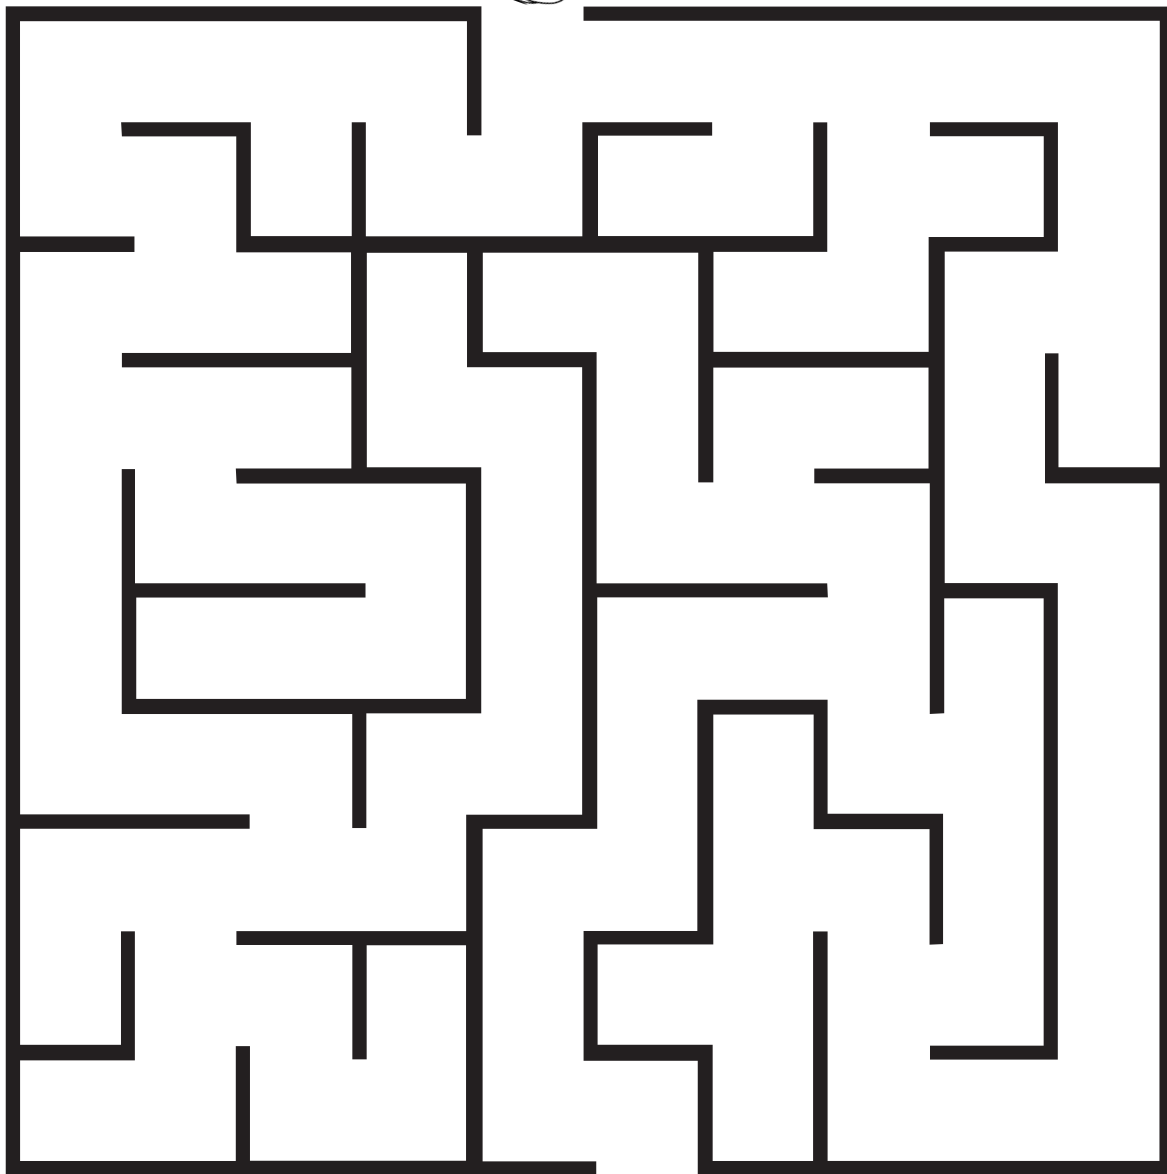

Color the Picture!

Our Daily Bread
Publishing™

Get Through the Maze

Can you help the monkey find its way to the trees?
Don't forget to color the pictures!

Our Daily Bread
Publishing™