

Strengthening Bangladeshi families and communities

Hazera Begum is a basket weaver in rural Bangladesh. She is one of over 500 disadvantaged women artisans who together wove the baskets Serrv ordered this year. When they weave for Dhaka Handicrafts, the women thrive not only from fair and steady income, but from the holistic programs created to directly strengthen their families and communities. Educational scholarships are offered to daughters of families who cannot afford school fees, medical treatments and sanitation methods are financially supported, and much more.
