✕ The Tie That Binds ✕ by Dale Jenkins

Today we exult the Prince of Peace who has taught us about and brought true peace into our lives. As we continue to grow and add people may we be aware that it adds to potential conflict and may we side-step that and love each other deeply.

There is plenty of drama in this old sin-sick world. We see it in the politics of our day, in multiple social media posts, we hear it on the news and at places of work, we fear it in our children's schools and in other public spaces.

May we ever be a people of peace and this be a place of peace. May we seek peace where others would be lazy and allow for conflict. May we be known as people of peace at our place of work and in our subdivisions and HOA's. Where strife is prevalent, as much as possible, may we be different. May we learn to stand for right and truth without being people who unnecessarily agitate. May we learn to control both our temper and our tongue. And, may you, and all of us, be recipients of the blessings of being peacemakers instead of peace-breakers.

I hope you have a super week. I'm glad you are here!!!

Schools out for SUMMER!

Congrats to all graduates College and High School! Here we go!!

Our Mission trip to Lexington, VA is next week! We leave May 26th and return 31st! I have room for 2 more people to go.

Welcome Logan Campbell and Sarah Philpott! They begin their internship with us next week and we are excited about the summer with them! Let's make them feel welcomed!

Maury Christian Camp 1 and 2 are now closed. Please make sure that you read the email you received and get your forms notarized for camp.

Horizons is now full and there is a waiting list. If you have not mailed in your parental permission form please do so ASAP. Your registration is not complete until they receive this.

NOTE: There is going to be a date change for Kids Camp. Friday Evening June 22 there will be a FAMILY cookout at our Home and Lonnie Jones will be speaking to us that night. (This is the day before the Seminar at Spring Meadows).

Garage Bible Study is on Mondays at 7pm!
