COVID-19 Therapies for Pregnant and Lactating People

August 13, 2021 - SMFM supports the NIH COVID-19 treatment guidelines and suggests that shared decision-making and acknowledgment of the limitations of the existing data should occur. However, no therapies that would otherwise be given for COVID-19 should be withheld specifically due to pregnancy or lactation. This includes the provision of monoclonal antibodies, remdesivir, and dexamethasone to pregnant patients who qualify.
