BIERGARTEN, BOARDWALK GAMES AND BASEBALL ARE BACK AT

BY SAMANTHA MATTHEWS NIGHT & DAY MAGAZINE

Last season the BlueClaws stadium added a new Biergarten, mini-golf, boardwalk games and an added night of fireworks. This season BlueClaws brings it all back with a few more new additions for fans to rejoice over.

THE BIERGARTEN AND SUMMER CONCERT SERIES

“So we have the Biergarten and it’s been really popular last summer, that was our debut,” shared Greg Giombarrese, director of communications for the Lakewood BlueClaws.

Every week Thirsty Thursday will continue to take place in the Biergarten with $1 Coors and Coors light drafts along with wing specials from Quaker Steak and Lube.

“So that’s every Thursday and those are really good,” said Giombarrese. “Fridays this year we added in Fiesta Fridays so we do nachos, BlueClaws bowls and some other food and drink specials. That’s every Friday.

“Then Saturdays, starting in June, will be the Summer Concert Series. Just as we did last year, we’ll have bands each week and they will be out there.”

Some of the Summer Concert Series’ most popular performing acts will be back for another season.

“... Last year we had Splintered Sunlight and they’ll be back on June 22,” he added. “They’re a Grateful Dead Tribute band and that was immensely popular. We weren’t really sure how that was going to go, but it turned out to be really tremendous so that was great.”

Country band After the Reign will also return as well as the Parrot Beach Band, which is a Jimmy Buffet-style tribute band. Asbury Fever will perform on July 27 for Bruce Springsteen night. On Aug. 10, The Snakes will perform for Irish Heritage Night.

“The Snakes have been coming out here for a few years and then the schedules kind of didn’t work and we’re happy to get them back,” said Giombarrese. “They’re really popular. It’s a good program.”

According to Giombarrese, this year the gates will open at 6 p.m. instead of 5 p.m. and the bands will start at 6:30 p.m. in the Biergarten and play into the game. “So you’ll have a lot of fans hang out in the berm over there,” he said.

The TVs in the Biergarten will show the game as well so fans don’t have to worry about missing a thing and they can enjoy drink specials and everything from the comfort of the Biergarten.

“Founders Brewing is the corporate partner on that so they’ll provide a lot of drink specials for those too,” added Giombarrese. “So it’s a good program and it’s been popular over the years. I’m looking forward to bringing it back for 2019.”

In an effort to expand the music offerings, there will be live entertainment every Thursday, Friday and Saturday night in the Biergarten. While the actual band will perform on Saturday, there will be some kind of acoustic performance on Thursdays and Fridays to provide some background noise to the Biergarten.

FIREWORKS FRENZY

“... So then fireworks will follow those Saturday games too,” added Giombarrese. “Last year we added fireworks on Saturdays. This year we have them on Thursdays too and we’ve always had them on Friday. So we’ll go Thursday, Friday and Saturday now.”

That means 26 fireworks displays for the year. Since the season is already underway, three of those shows have already dazzled the night sky. Fans can still look forward to 23 fireworks shows at the stadium for the rest of the season.

“Basically it’s after every Thursday, Friday, Saturday game plus July 3,” he said. “So we’re excited about that. Everybody loves the fireworks and they put on a good show out here.

“So that will be what we’re looking forward to, we’re looking forward to that a lot,” he added.

The addition of the Biergarten last year led to the opportunity to add another night of fireworks this year. Giombarrese explained that since they did Thirsty Thursday out in center field, they couldn’t really do a fireworks show that day. Now that Thirsty Thursday takes place in the Biergarten on the left field side, fireworks can shoot off from center field. Post-game fireworks will start in June.

In addition to the added fireworks, the Biergarten remains as something well embraced by the BlueClaws’ fans.

“People seem to like it,” he said. “There’s plenty of room out there. They have the heaters. They have the lights. A variety of options. You have the stage facing out. They kind of played around and did some things to improve the sound system out there as well.

“They had the TV so we have the game on there and then if you want to watch on the berm over there on the side, you can easily do that. You’re right next to the Biergarten anyway. You can watch on the berm, you can still hear the music and you can watch the game so you know you have a little something for everybody there.”

NEW ADDITIONS

The picnic areas are another part of the park that got revamped this season. “... They put in a lot of brand new seating and redesigned the whole picnic areas, two of them, so there’s one on first base side and one on third base side,” said Giombarrese. “All of the seats will now face the field.

“We used to have square tables so you’d have some people facing backwards and some people facing, but now everything faces the field. They have high top seating on some spots, some standard seating. There’s a lot more room for people to walk around and then they upgraded the menus for those as well, too.

“Yeah, that was the big improvement for this year. Last year they did the mini-golf and the boardwalk games.”

The boardwalk games and mini-golf will also remain for this year’s season after last year’s debut. With every season’s new additions, BlueClaws continually strives to be a place that offers something for everyone to enjoy.

“That was the goal,” he responded. “So you have the mini-golf for the younger kids and then the boardwalk games are kind of a little older and pretty much anybody could do that, but it’s really for kids.

“The sweet spot there’s like ... kids between 7 and 18. And then the adults obviously in the Biergarten 21 and over. It works out, you know, as something for everybody. Not only that, you get to use the whole concourse.”

Prior to the addition of the Biergarten, the 360 degrees of the facility wasn’t properly utilized. According to Giombarrese, when Thirsty Thursday was held in center field there was nothing connecting the seats behind home plate and out there.

“But now you have like Major Ballpark Fun Zones,” he added. “And all corners of the stadium, which is really exciting. People have really responded well to it. So it’s been really good.”

And while the Summer Concert Series started out as just a few special nights of music, over the past few years, they have really formalized the night and formed the Summer Concert Series as it is today.

“And you know, you’re kind of at the mercy of our schedule, but we’re able to make it work so I’m looking forward to getting those going in the summer,” shared Giombarrese.

Dining at DUKE'S

BY SAMANTHA MATTHEWS
NIGHT & DAY MAGAZINE

Sam Chiarella is no stranger to the restaurant industry or the area as he first opened Fratello's in Sea Girt in 1997, which he sold in '06, followed by the opening of Rella's in Brielle in 2009, which he sold last summer. In 2017 he opened Duke's, originally as a barbecue concept in Point Pleasant Beach, and now Duke's is gearing up for another summer with a more tavern-style menu and atmosphere.

DUKE'S TAVERN & TAP

"It went from Duke's Supper & Spirits, which was barbecue, to Duke's Tavern & Tap," said Chiarella. "And that's basically what we are, we're a tavern and we pride ourselves on being food-driven. Food is always good and fresh for tavern fare."

Duke's serves the same pizza that Chiarella cranked out for nine years at Rella's and was very popular.

"We have entertainment on week-ends, Fridays and Saturdays," he said. "We keep our kitchen open later starting Memorial Day, we keep it open until midnight. So we do a happy hour from 2 to 6 p.m. and then we do it again from 10 p.m. to 12 a.m."

The change from the initial barbecue concept ultimately stemmed from it being a poor fit in the area with a lack of interest on the part of clientele.

"You know what it was with the barbecue, it's not even that we didn't execute, it's just that the interest in barbecue just wasn't that big and I think people when they really want barbecue are going to just go to a little BYOB place," explained Chiarella.

"And I think it's a lot to do with being near the water," he added. "They want seafood. But, yeah, we wanted to make it — there's so many seafood places where you can get fresh seafood that we want to have seafood, but we also want to have something else too."

Getting off to a slow start during the summer 2017 opening, has not slowed Chiarella down. He admits that last summer a lot of people still didn't really know that Duke's changed concepts, but this summer he's hopeful that everyone is now aware.

"So I think this is the first summer that people are really going to know me and know my history a little bit and I think this summer will be a really good summer in terms of people finally identifying with what Duke's really is as opposed to a barbecue place," expressed Chiarella.

"It's not barbecue. So I think a lot of people still don't know that, but the majority of people in the area are starting to understand that, which is exciting. It makes me optimistic for the summer."

MUCH MORE TO THE MENU

In addition to the full dining room and bar, Duke's Tavern & Tap is also home to a small upstairs deck for outdoor dining. According to Chiarella, it's a good spot for fireworks on Thursday nights once they start for the summer.

The restaurant offers dining specials each day of the week. Monday is Lobster Night starting on Memorial Day, Tuesday is Half-Price Apps all day and night, Wednesday is Game Night, which is trivia and Name that Tune, which is complemented by 2-for-1 bar pies and finally Thursday is Prime Rib Night.

Beginning the first week of June, Duke's will be open daily for lunch and dinner opening at 11:30 a.m. In addition to the special nights, the restaurant will also feature nightly dinner specials.

"For the summer we'll have a bunch of seafood specials," shared Chiarella.

Can't miss menu items? The pizza, of course, not to mention the burgers too.

"I think the pizza is growing in popularity," said Chiarella. "We sell a lot of burgers too."

"But I think pizza is something we sort of made a name for ourselves in Brielle and that sort of transferred here as well. But then we have steaks, we have fresh seafood, a couple pasta dishes, pizza, we have a burger section, we have a lot of apps. So the menu's pretty diverse."

STOP INTO DUKE'S THIS SUMMER

Chiarella's track record of successful eateries from Fratello's to Rella's to Duke's quite simply speaks for itself. While Rella's has come and gone, its pizza remains and those who don't want to dine out can enjoy the pizza for take out as well. The entire menu will likely be available this summer on Doordash.

"We're just a good local spot ... if they want to come out and grab a drink and grab a good bite to eat, this is the place to be," said Chiarella.

Swinging into Summer at iPlay America

BY SAMANTHA MATTHEWS

NIGHT & DAY MAGAZINE

While iPlay America will always provide a fun and family-friendly environment for its clientele, there is nightlife for those ages 21 and over to enjoy as well. With the addition of a Top Golf Swing Suite, there is now another reason for the over 21 community to flock to iPlay and enjoy sipping cocktails and swinging golf clubs.

NOT JUST FOR THE KIDS

After a soft opening in April and a grand opening early this month, iPlay America announced the launch of their newest venture under the roof of their indoor Jersey Shore amusement park, which is none other than the Top Golf Swing Suite.

"So, yeah, it's something that still stays in line with what our mission is, to be a great place for families to come, but we wanted to be a great place for people 21 to 35 that don't have kids or any age really," said Jessica Schwartz, VP of Sales and Marketing.

"But 21 to 35, that scene where there's so many people that live in this area and go to Asbury or go to the shore, and that's great and they should, but if they're looking for something different to do, they don't want to drive there or they're over in that area and it's getting congested over the summer, they could come here and feel that it's a place for them."

Schwartz shared that one of the difficulties iPlay America faces as a business is to be able to set an adult vibe because when people hear iPlay America they often think kids.

"So being able to really build this Top Golf Swing Suite brand is going to not only elevate the adult experience, but is also going to elevate the restaurant," said Schwartz.

The restaurant she referenced is Game Time Bar & Grill at iPlay America. The hope is that people will begin to think of it more as a place for people to come and eat and play as opposed to people just thinking it's a kids place and a restaurant inside iPlay America.

According to Schwartz, she feels the benefit of iPlay is also the fact that if you do want that experience you can get that as well. No matter the age, she admits that the birthday party goes love laser tag, playing skeeball and more.

"I guess you're only as old as you think you are," she said, adding that she's had birthday parties for 70-year-olds in the amusement park at iPlay America.

"So I think that's the nice part about it, like our adult parties you can incorporate Top Golf for an hour and it's a package and you also get a park package with it as well and there's four different packages that you can choose from," said Schwartz. "So there's a food package, a park package and then you can choose to add Top Golf. The gaming package includes unlimited pool, unlimited non-redemption video games, all of those types of things."

TOP GOLF SWING SUITE

After iPlay America was approached by Top Golf the thought went to where it would be put. That's when the decision was made to eliminate iPlay's smaller banquet rooms, according to Schwartz.

The change seemed to make sense for the business since their focus wasn't really banquets. "We have the events center, our focus is really on doing large-scale events for companies and smaller events, but not banquets," said Schwartz. "We have so much more to offer to a business or organization than your typical banquet."

During the renovation a bar was added to the area in which the Top Golf Swing Suite is located to ensure there was a bar within the Top Golf space, shared Schwartz. There is also another bar that is not too far from the Top Golf space so if the bar is really crazy patrons can walk down to the other or vice versa.

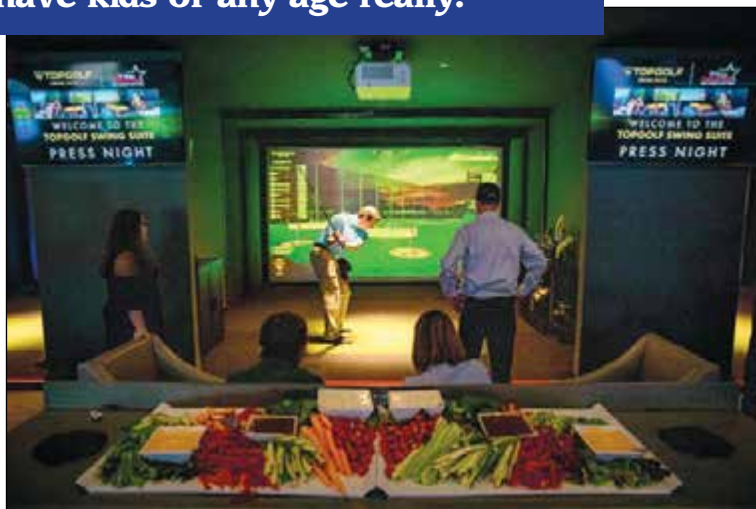

The Top Golf and bar areas are also quite separate from the amusement park area, where all the kids are, which makes the over 21 feel in certain areas easier to attain.

Another positive for the Top Golf Swing Suite and iPlay America as a whole is a lack of weather dependency. You won't ever have to worry about a party being cancelled because of rain since everything the business has to offer is indoors.

"So yeah it's something that still stays in line with what our mission is, to be a great place for families to come, but we wanted to be a great place for people 21 to 35 that don't have kids or any age really."

"And you get the outdoor feel indoors," shared Schwartz. "If you're going to go into the park, it has a feeling like you're outdoors, but you're indoors. We say 'the Jersey Shore Indoors,' that's kind of how we are."

"And same thing here [Top Golf area]. It's not dependent on weather for the party giver. Sometimes our business gets a little dependent on weather, unfortunately, but it's really great."

In the Top Golf Swing Suite there are six unique bays with game simulators including golf, hockey, dodgeball, baseball and football. There is also lounge seating, full food and beverage service and much more.

You can reserve a bay for up to eight people on your own. Parties of up to 44 people can be booked through their Top Golf Swing Suite Reservation Specialist and over 50 people goes up to the Corporate Sales Department.

In addition, Schwartz shared they will offer full rentals for company outings, corporate team building or whatever the company wishes to do. It's a four-hour time slot available Monday through Friday during the day and then Monday through Thursday at night. You can also add Top Golf to any adult party, which is the most economical way to experience TopGolf with a large group, according to Schwartz.

TopGolf can also be added to any of the team building packages in the park.

"I think I'm looking forward to having something to really elevate our brand," said Schwartz in response to what she's most looking forward to with the addition of TopGolf.

BLOCK PARTY 21 AND OVER

Every Friday night iPlay America holds a Block Party, which is for those 21 and over. This is another avenue they really want to build, shared Schwartz.

"We've struggled a little bit in building that night," explained Schwartz. "I think because we didn't have something like this [Top Golf] to offer people, but now that we do to bring that more over here."

"We have a live DJ every Friday night. We do a country version once a month where we have Thunder 106 come out and there's a country DJ playing country music and stuff like that,

Line Dancing in City Square.

"But the Friday night is when you're going to get that all-adult-only experience that you know that there's going to be no kids allowed, she added. "And I think that's going to be really advantageous to a lot of people's experience."

GAME TIME BAR & GRILL

Game Time Bar & Grill welcomed a new executive chef, Adam Livow, to its team and he is really re-vamping the entire Game Time menu.

"Everything is prepared from scratch in house," shared Schwartz. "I mean, the mac and cheese bites, he's literally making the mac and cheese. Everything is freshly prepared."

"He's a really big believer in that. So I can't be more thankful for that. We have a true executive chef. He doesn't want to take the shortcuts of buying the prepackaged stuff."

While doing everything from scratch is more cost effective it is also much more time consuming, but Livow doesn't mind.

"So you need someone who's dedicated and really wants to do that," she added. "And Adam is top notch with that and he is creative."

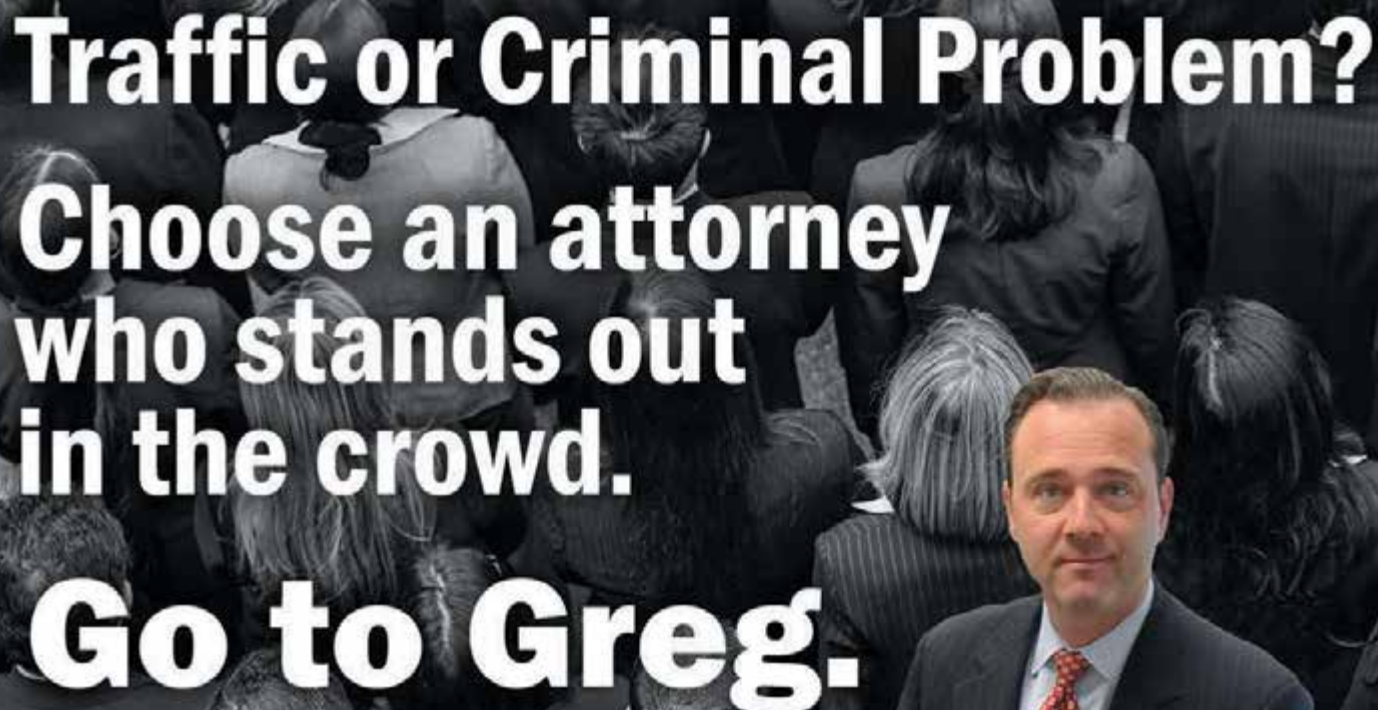

According to a press release from iPlay America about the new executive chef, guests can expect to see updated versions of their favorite classic dishes on the new gastropub menu at Game Time Bar & Grill.

The new menu will feature elevated comfort foods made from scratch on-premise, including pork belly smoked and cured in-house, freshly ground burgers and flatbreads with house-prepared dough, the press release also stated.

"Over the years, iPlay America has become a destination for entertainment, games, events and fun in New Jersey. With our new menus, we're now looking to establish the restaurant and Event Center as a true dining destination in the area," said Livow. "New Jersey has a great food scene, and diners have come to expect quality food with an exciting flair, no matter whether they're stopping at a fast-casual spot for a quick bite or celebrating at a fine dining restaurant."

"With the new menu at Game Time Bar & Grill, we'll be offering guests quality and delicious versions of familiar favorites, with a twist. This, coupled with the fact that menu items are available at a price point that won't break the bank, makes the restaurant itself a draw for a family meal or a friends' night out."
