To Team Myriad from the Team at [REDACTED]

We need to discuss a matter that will determine whether we continue our business relationship, as a matter of trust and urgency.

The current level of system capacity and performance standard we have leased is not adequate to continue our project. We have no complaint with your service or management of our activity, and in fact we are constantly floored at the scale of processing your company offers.

However, our initial projection for how our system would map galactic bodies is currently ongoing improvement, and our requirements have scaled up dramatically. We understand this is not the biggest project running on Myriad, but we would like to ask for a temporary reallocation of resources to help us complete our new model.

Sincerely,
