Words That Sting

Have you ever thought about what you would do?

Will you remember to reach for help?
Will you remember to find your voice?

Will you remember . . .

That you are supported

By the people around you

That you are cared for

By the teachers rooting for you

That you are loved

By your family and friends

Will you remember . . .

That together we're stronger

And our kindness is louder

And we can drown out

The words that sting

By lifting out voices

And speaking up when it counts?

Will you remember . . .

That we are not alone?

Because we are not alone.

We are not alone.
