Jan Spins a Web

by Christina Wilsdon
illustrated by Robert Sayegh

“Time to spin my web,” said Jan. “But where will I make it?”

Then Jan sees a cave.
“That is a nice spot!”
Jan spins a web on top.

The sun sets.
Jan sits in her fine web.
Will it nab lots of bugs?
Jan hopes it will.

Then, wham! Bats zip past
Jan and rip the web!

“Stop! Stop!” yells Jan.

Jan spins her web again.
This time, it is not in the same spot.
“This seems fine.”

Now bats do not hit the web
when they speed by.
Jan did a fine job!
