How did Abraham and Sarah first respond to God's promises?

Abraham and Sarah laughed because God's promise seemed impossible.

Count 'em Up

Materials

Pieces of paper numbered 1-100, one number on each piece of paper
Candy bar

Instructions

1. Number small pieces of paper with the numbers 1-100. Fold them and scatter them throughout the room.
2. Tell the kids it is their job to try and find the pieces of paper, and based on the number of points each of them accumulate, there will be a prize awarded.
3. After all the pieces of paper have been found, have each kid tally up his/her points by adding all the numbers from all the pieces of paper he/she found. Write down each name along with the number of points he/she accumulated. They will expect the person with the most points to be the winner. However, at the end, you will surprise them by giving a candy bar to the person with the least points.

Point

Remind them of the Q and A from the week and explain that Sarah may have seen God's promise as impossible, but she who had no children was given offspring more numerous than the stars in the sky.
