

How do you envision your safety platform?

What if your Emergency Alerting and Response Tools could:

Ensure that every staff member received an audible alert, instantly send and receive safety messages on any device, send a silent panic for help, and, if necessary, the critical alerts could be automatically escalated to your organization's safety responders or local law enforcement, allowing everyone to work together in a single message group to coordinate and resolve the situation.

What if you had a Safety Awareness Network that could:

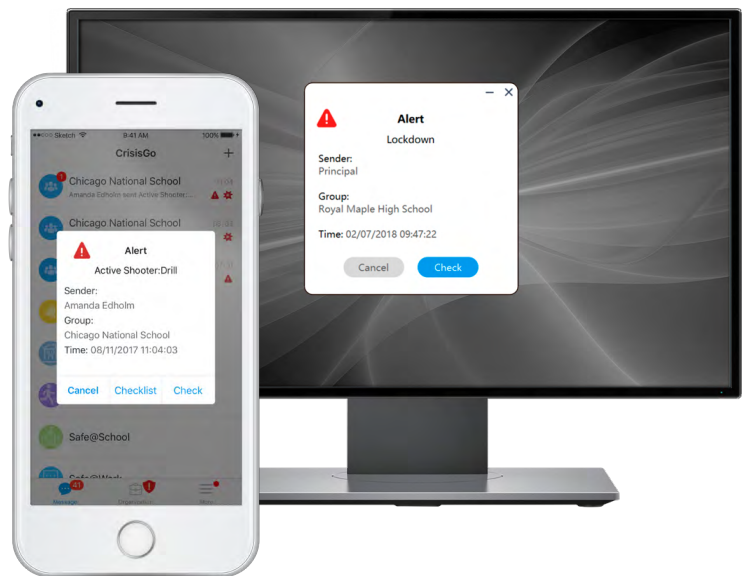

Provide staff with safety information and reminders on a scheduled basis to keep safety top of mind, empower staff to communicate directly with the safety team on daily safety and social/emotional issues, practice safety using interactive simulations that increase skills and safety protocol knowledge.

What if you had Emergency Response Tools that could:

Empower staff with immediate access to their emergency plan protocols, take a quick accounting for all staff and students, guide staff and students to safety with maps and documents, and simplify reunifying students with their parents.

What If Your Student Safety Resources could:

Provide students with a student safety assistant app that would encourage them to report harassment and bullying, learn safety practices, report their safety status, if necessary, with active shooter protocols like ALICE and RUN-HIDE-FIGHT, and students could immediately provide their GPS location for reunifying them with the school or parents.

No need for "What ifs"

Your school district CAN do all this through an affordable, well-organized rollout and pay for features as you grow into them, rather than paying for everything upfront.
