Cheekwood is a 55-acre botanical garden and museum of art located on the historic Cheek family estate. Originally built as the home of Leslie and Mabel Cheek in 1929, Cheekwood is one of the nation's finest examples of an American Country Place Era estate. Since being converted into a botanical garden and museum of art in 1960, Cheekwood has presented world-class art exhibitions, spectacular gardens and an historic estate unlike anything else.

Each year, Cheekwood welcomes over 225,000 annual visitors, making it one of Nashville's top cultural attractions, with approximately 14,000 member households. Visitors enjoy family activities, programming for all ages and year-round festivals celebrating the four seasons. From 150,000 blooming bulbs in the spring to one million holiday lights in the winter, there's always something to do and see at Cheekwood.
