Comments from Others

- ~ Wow!- good content - it's like "The U.S. Constitution for Dummies." I like the visuals on the Constitution itself - good job!
- ~ This should be mandatory in all schools around the nation.
- ~ Excellent job! Jefferson would be proud!
- ~ An amazing training. I am a Canadian, but seeing this really explains how important the foundations of a nation really are, and sir, you have done an exceptional job in analyzing and explaining these concepts. Thanks! ~ Canada
- ~ Thanks for this. I love studying American history and this helps very much to understand the Declaration in a much better way. - The Netherlands
- ~ Thank you! I truly think this is the most unbiased civics/political video I have ever watched. And I think your idea of the concepts of the Declaration are truly great. This was very helpful to me. Thanks !
- ~ I have just listened to all of your seminars. I must confess, you have taught me to think about the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution in an entirely new way. Although, I attended a nationally known Law School for three years and have been practicing law for over 40 years, I have never had the fundamental relationship between the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence taught to me in such lucid terms.
- ~ We finished our study of the US founding documents using your web seminars. Everyone was impressed and enlightened by your presentations. All in all, it has been my most enjoyable series in the 15 years I have been leading this class, I think as a practical matter it probably did more good than anything else we have done in the last 15 years as well and we have done some pretty good stuff.

"If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be."
 ~ Thomas Jefferson

The United States are* at a crossroads. A vast majority of people know something has gone wrong. Our culture and civil institutions are in a state of great decay. Religious liberty is under heavy assault. Whether future generations will be able to live out and share their faith, hangs in the balance.

Our country is unique among nations, being founded not on a common ethnicity, but on a set of ideas – biblical ideas. Knowing these ideas is not a genetic inheritance. They must be passed on to each new generation and each new group of immigrants.

These principles, however, are no longer taught in America's public schools, colleges or universities. They are not promoted by television, movies, or print media. They are not understood by political leaders at national, state and local levels. Civic Ignorance is "off the charts" and as Thomas Jefferson observes we will soon "not be free".

The Founders clearly stated that their ideas of freedom and liberty and our Constitutional System of government were anchored in scriptural principles. They saw God's Providential guidance everywhere in the founding of our nation and wanted future generations to know and understand His mighty deeds.

They also acknowledged that the pulpits of the American Revolution were what prepared the citizens of the colonies to know their God given liberties and to declare them to the world.

They knew that the church would play a key role in "stewarding" these biblical principles forward to future generations.

But, the church has been asleep to these truths for over 100 years. So we now find ourselves at a "such a time as this" moment. All other institutions are failing. Religious liberty for our country and the world is in the balance.

Christians, pastors, and churches must "step into the gap" and rise up and proclaim these truths again for the sake of this and future generations.

Our Purpose

To help make it safe for this generation and future generations to live our and share their faith.

Our Mission
