

March 25, 2012
60 Minutes Web Extra
Tight Security for Sergio Marchionne

[Steve Kroft] Is there anything materially different about your life when you're here in Torino?

[Sergio Marchionne] Totally different.

Is it?

This place is a lot more formal than the U.S. is, so there's-- I mean you'll see it as you walk around. There's security people and people in uniforms.

Mm-hmm.

This is the remnant of an old industrial empire where things actually were incredibly disciplined and regimented and so all the security guards have uniforms here, which you don't normally see when you are in the U.S. I'm protected here by state police.

[End of segment]