1 Corinthians 1:23

"For This Is The Will Of God, Even Your Sanctification."— 1 Thes. 4:3.

The great end of all God's dealing with His covenant people is to lower their will in holy submission to His. Thus He leads,—thus He disappoints,—thus He chastens and afflicts, that His dear child, dear to Him as the apple of His eye, might be brought to say from his heart, " Not my will, O my Father, but Thine in all things be done ;" and this submission of your will to His, constitutes the very essence of sanctification. The angels in heaven, and the spirits of just men made perfect, seek no higher glory, no greater happiness. To do God's will is to be like God, and to be like God is to have heaven below. And oh, how painful is sometimes the process by which the believer is led to bow, and kiss, and justify the rod. Sometimes it is as he bends over some fond picture of hope shattered into a thousand fragments—sometimes it is by the loss of health, prosperity, or friends. But however varied or painful be the discipline, a more spiritual and holy posture of the soul you cannot be brought into, than a quiet yielding up of yourselves into the hands of the Lord to do with you as seemeth good in His sight.

*"Be still my heart! these anxious cares
To thee are burdens, thorns, and snares;
They cast dishonor on the Lord,
And contradict His gracious word."*

O. Winslow
