PREACHING FROM WISDOM

“Who is this that darkens counsel by words without knowledge? Dress for action like a man.”

God's first words to Job were not just a warning about the importance of words, but a challenge to humbly stand before God so that Job's words would rise up from knowledge.

Join Michael Lawrence (Hinson Baptist Church in Portland), and Kent Dresdow (NorthCreek Church) for this Workshop on Biblical Exposition where you will gain the necessary tools for preaching and teaching from Wisdom Literature focusing on the book of Job.

Michael
LAWRENCE

Michael Lawrence became Senior Pastor at Hinson Baptist Church in Portland, Oregon in September, 2010. Michael came to faith at an early age, but never understood that the Christian life was more than salvation until he was introduced to the InterVarsity campus ministry at Duke. Michael earned an MDiv at Gordon-Conwell and a PhD from Cambridge University in 2002. He served as Associate Pastor for more than 8 years at Capitol Hill Baptist in Washington D.C. He is the author of Biblical Theology in the Life of the Church: A Guide for Ministry, co-author of It Is Well: Expositions on Substitutionary Atonement (with Mark Dever), and contributed to Perspectives on Christian Worship: Five Views.

WHAT IS A WORKSHOP ON BIBLICAL EXPOSITION?

The Workshops on Biblical Exposition aim to recover the centrality of God's Word, preached expositionally, to the benefit of the life and health of the church in our generation. In order for this kind of preaching to take place, the Bible must be properly understood and rightly handled. And so, this workshop consists of two and a half days covering Principles of Exposition (instructional talks on how to better handle biblical texts), Preaching (engaging expository sermons), and Small Group Practice (times when you will share and receive feedback on two passages you prepare in advance). Each of these sessions is carefully designed to be interactive and interrelated for the greatest value in improving your work.
